AITP-LA is a community partner for the 10th annual Digital Family Reunion, Southern California’s most vibrant gathering of technology and digital media industry leaders, to be held at Wells Fargo Center on December 6th.

The SoCal tech scene continues to expand at an unprecedented rate. This is one of the most anticipated events of the year because it connects so many aspects of our thriving technology economy in the Southern California region.

With 50+ community partners and sponsors reaching out to their core constituencies, it will be a mash-up of who’s who in social business, digital media and tech. This cross-disciplinary affair ensures a room full of people you just have to meet.

Get ready to experience what happens when LA's entire tech community convenes to celebrate all that connects us. From Silicon Beach to DTLA and across So Cal, please join fellow digital media, entertainment and technology professionals for the event of the season.
