Our distinguished speaker, Randall Hunt, will demonstrate the current state of the Cloud and describe some approaches which large organizations are taking to initiate digital transformation.

He will discuss cloud strategies -- including running cloud-based applications, cloud-enabled virtual environments, migration strategies, optimizing cloud services, and cloud governance – as well as emerging trends like Machine Learning. Randall will also share insights on change management for digital transformation -- how to manage enterprise organizational challenges through the various stages of adoption.

Randall will cover the rich structure and ecosystem of available solutions in the Cloud as well as provide numerous case studies using real world customers and use cases.

Arrive early for great networking.

Space is Limited, Registration is required. We'll provide the appetizers and drinks.

Members and Non-members FREE with advance registration.

About our Speaker

Randall Hunt, Senior Technical Evangelist and Software Engineer at Amazon Web Services in Los Angeles.

Randall spends most of his time building demos and writing about new services and launches. Python is his favorite programming language but he can sometimes be found struggling with C++. Prior to working at AWS, Randall launched rockets at NASA and SpaceX but he found his programming passion at MongoDB. Randall has worked on a variety of technical and business challenges in many different verticals with over a decade of cloud experience at NASA, SpaceX, MongoDB, and AWS. He is a total space nerd.

Randall has dealt with a wide range of both business and technical issues across many different verticals based on his experiences at SpaceX, MongoDB, AWS, and NASA. Thanks to these experiences Randall has gained a deep understanding of deploying large scale technical solutions in cloud environments.

As a Sr. Technical Evangelist, Randall often speaks at conferences and events across the world where he helps developers maximize their productivity in the cloud. He's particularly interested in AI, databases, serverless, and DevOps. He holds all seven AWS certifications.
